

DO THESE PEOPLE LOOK LIKE POLITICAL THUGS?

These are members of the Concerned Citizens of Pinole, a grass-roots organization that placed the Recall of Maria Alegria and Stephen Tilton on the February 5th ballot.

These people are just like you and your neighbors, many of them longtime residents of Pinole who don't like the way the city is being governed and are doing something about it, for some at a great cost in time and money.

Like many of your neighbors, they signed our Recall petitions last summer to remove Maria and Stephen (and former Councilman David Cole, who resigned) before they could do more harm to the city.

These people are not political thugs, as Maria Alegria called them in one of her flyers. One is a long-time Boy Scout leader. Another has devoted her life to her 48-year-old son, who has Down Syndrome.

They have no political agendas and are not carrying out any personal vendettas against Maria and Stephen. They have just had their fill of bad government and have worked tirelessly for seven months to change it.

These are the people you see at the Recall tables at the Farmers' Market and the post office, handing out Recall information and buttons and signs. They are not thugs; they're just concerned citizens who want a better Pinole. We hope you want the same.
